AUDITOR PRIOR OUT He Tenders His Resignation With No String On It

Goes to Massachusetts To Accept A Position

City Auditor Harry B. Prior today resigned his position at city hall. On Aug. 5 the auditor tendered his resignation to the mayor and city council and the matter caused quite a stir in the municipal building. At the last meeting of the city government Councilman Herrick moved that his resignation be laid on the table.

Councilman Parsons wanted to know from the auditor if he wished to withdraw his resignation and he said he did not. After some discussion in which the auditor refused to make much of any statement, and one motion of Mr. Herrick who said he understood that the auditor would continue in office the resignation was laid on the table.

Nothing more was said or done and the auditor a few days later took a quiet trip into Massachusetts and his office was locked up for several days and the payrolls in several departments held up owing to his absence. He finally returned to his duties with no explanation to anyone regarding his absence. Things then took on a quiet aspect at city hall and everybody looked for Mr. Prior to remain in office, but he really had no intention of doing so.

Today for the second time he handed his resignation to the mayor and is out for good. A special meeting has been called for tonight to elect a man man in his place. It is understood that Fred G. Ames and George J. Murray, clerk of the Military Twist Drill Company, are candidates for the place.

Mr. Prior, it is said, has been offered an excellent position in Boston and he will accept the same.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to all my friends who have been so kind to me in my recent bereavement, also for the beautiful floral tributes which they sent.

MAINE NO LONGER HAS CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITION

Repeal Adopted By 856 Majority in a Wonderful Election

Cities Gave the Repeal a Big Majority, But the Small Towns Cut it Down---Special Session of Legislature to Be Called---Direct Primaries Adopted By a Big Vote.

Constitutional Prohibition in the State of Maine is dead, as a result of the greatest election ever held in the old Pine Tree State. By a majority of 856 the people of Maine on Monday have decreed that the following amendment to the constitution voted in 1884 shall be stricken out:

"The manufacture of intoxicating liquors, not including cider, and the sale and keeping for sale of intoxicating liquors, are and shall be forever prohibited. Except, however, that the sale and keeping for sale of such liquors for medicinal and mechanical purposes, and the arts, and the sale and keeping for sale of cider may be permitted under such regulations as the Legislature may provide. The Legislature shall enact laws, with suitable penalties for the suppression of the manufacture, sale and keeping for sale of intoxicating liquors, with the exception herein specified."

for repeal. For instance Portland went yes by 2,000 majority, Lewiston by 3,000, Bangor by 2,100, so on with Saco, Biddeford, Augusta and all of the cities in fact throwing a big vote for repeal. One of the first counties recorded was that of York, at this end of the state, and this was one of the greatest surprises as the county went yes by 77 majority, where as it had been conceded before election by both sides as no by a good majority.

The cities were the first in and with the small towns the vote in the early evening gave the wets over 5,000 majority and this was increasing, until the reports from the upper part of the state and the small towns began to come in and then there was a rapid slump in the figures and at one time it was thought that the dries would win, but by a small vote. The town vote was not great enough however, and at one

There were other amendments to the constitution at this special election on Monday, but they were of small significance compared with the question of prohibition or license as the vote came to be known. In fact so little was the interest that at one o'clock no general information could be given on the other matters, other than the vote for direct primaries was about three to one, for the retention of Augusta as a capital by a big vote and allowing Portland to exceed its debt limit by a large vote.

The all absorbing question was prohibition, and never in the United States have the prohibitory forces put up such a fight as at this election in Maine. Every argument was advanced and all of the prominent workers of the country were brought to Maine to fight the cause of temperance as they see it. On the other than the deep disgust the people organized effort of any magnitude to oppose the temperance people, rather than the deep disgust the people of Maine have had for the farce of a prohibition law they have had on their statute books in their constitution. It is conceded that if it were not for the wonderful fight put up by the temperance people and the appeal to the women and children to help that the state would have voted yes by thousands for majority instead of hundreds.

The fight was not stopped when the voting began but at the churches in the cities all day prayer-meetings were held and active temperance workers were every where about the polls and especially in the small towns urging the voters to vote no. Soon after the polls were opened, however, it was seen that the vote was to be heavy and this was taken as a sign of encouragement by the temperance people, but the big vote worked out just the opposite. No line on the vote was obtained as there was a general disinclination on the part of the voters to express an opinion so that it was not until the votes were counted that it was seen that there had been a strong under current and the independent voters were all voting for repeal.

As was expected the cities all went for repeal but at figures that astonished even the active workers

FRIGHTENED HORSE WRECKS WAGON

Wild Scramble as Horse Owned by George Dedes Dashes to Sidewalk

There was plenty of excitement on Congress street on Monday evening as the members of the Portsmouth Athletic club were returning from their outing, a horse attached to the delivery wagon of George Dedes, a fruit peddler took fright at the band at the corner of Congress and Fleet street. The driver was unable to control the horse and he took to the sidewalk in front of the store of P. Nichols, where the wagon collided with an iron post and the shaft crashed through a big plate glass window.

The animal fell to the sidewalk and the wagon turned turtle. Several hundred people who lined the sidewalk at the time were badly frightened as the fiery horse pranced among them. The driver and horse escaped injury, but the wagon was badly wrecked.

GOVERNOR BASS REVIEWS THE TROOPS

Dress Parade Last Day in Camp--- Witness Big Gun Practice---Host at Reception and Ball in Evening.

The New Hampshire Coast Artillery Corps completed their annual encampment with the regular troops at Fort Constitution on Monday evening and today they will break camp and the companies return to their homes in Laconia, Dover, Exeter and this city.

The last day of their encampment was one of the best they have had, being Governor's day and the state troops had some good practice at actual big gun fire. The troops with the regulars were reviewed by Governor Bass and staff and in the evening the Governor was the host at a reception and dance at the Hotel Wentworth in honor of the officers of the Artillery corps.

Governor Bass and his staff had a strenuous day starting in the forenoon with an official visit to the Navy Yard. In the afternoon the Governor was the guest at a reception given by Captain Hancock, the commanding officer of the Artillery District of Portsmouth, and New Castle, New Hampshire, at his headquarters at the old Jacob Wendell estate. There was a large number of guests present including many from this city.

During the afternoon there was target practice with the twelve-inch guns for the state troops, the first time they have had such practice and they did excellent work, although the actual result was not given out, but there were several hits made, the target being stationary.

The dress parade and review of the troops by Governor Bass was scheduled for four o'clock, but owing to the big gun practice it was six o'clock before they marched before the Governor on the parade ground. The regulars led with the Military band and the state companies followed and they made an excellent showing and were highly complimented on their alignment and appearance by the officers present.

This completed their official work for this encampment and Captain Hancock, the commanding officer of the district, spoke very highly of their work at this time. They have had on an average of eight hours work every day they have been in camp and have profited by it, so much so that next year they will be given more actual service work. The big gun practice will be increased and with moving targets.

Governor's Reception.
At nine o'clock last evening Governor Bass was the host at a reception and dance at the Hotel Wentworth and it was one of the events of the season at the hotel. There was a large number present and it was a very pretty affair. The dress uniforms of the officers of the Artillery corps and the naval officers, with

Two Views of Carl Morris, Who Will Tackle Jim Flynn in New York

New York, Sept. 12—Carl Morris, a local fighter, is training for his fight with Jim Flynn in New York. Morris is a local fighter and is training for his fight with Jim Flynn in New York. Morris is a local fighter and is training for his fight with Jim Flynn in New York.

"Green Acre was founded by Miss Sarah Farmer in 1894," explained R. C. Douglass, who for the past 14 years has been in charge of the camp at the Eliot resort. "She had seen to the religious parliament in Chicago the previous year, and intended Green Acre to represent a great extension of this movement."

"She invited all religious believers to come and present their views at Green Acre without controversy. These presentations are made in what is known as the Montsalvat school under the pines. There is a lecture tent which accommodates 500 people, a tented field, an inn and cottages."

"The original plan was that five persons should hold possession of Green Acre. Miss Farmer was enthusiastic, however, and kept putting more and more of her private fortune into the idea until at last she had used all but her homestead. Then Green Acre was taken over in feeble trust by Mr. Ho, private secretary of Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, the second wealthiest woman in America. A movement is now in prospect to redeem the title deeds."

"Besides Green Acre proper there is the tract of a dozen acres given by the late Mrs. Cole of New York, donor of the proposed Temple of Peace."

"Over Green Acre since Miss Farmer founded it has floated the famous peace flag, a white ensign 36 feet in length, bearing the single word 'Peace' and nailed at the top in 54-foot pole."

"It is proposed to make Green Acre the center of the New Thought movement, broad enough in its platform to take in something of all religions, since all religions are one in aim and essentially correct in fundamentals."

"With the completion of the new Temple of Peace we propose to place Green Acre in the very foreground of the movement for the harmonizing of all religions and their union, which must eventually be realized."

MARRIED AT PARENTS' HOME

There was a very pretty wedding at the summer home of Col. Hugh H. Scott at Gerrish Island on Monday noon, when Miss Margaret, his youngest daughter, became the bride of Edward Lincoln, of White Plains, N. Y., in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

There came near being a hitch in the ceremony as Rev. L. B. Fisher of Gainsboro, Iowa, the bride's pastor was to have performed the ceremony and he was here in Portsmouth and just as he was about to take the car for the Scott's summer home he was taken ill and had to be removed to the hospital. With but a half hour notice Rev. J. J. Merry of Kittery Point was secured and there was no delay.

The ceremony took place at noon in the drawing room which was handsomely decorated with autumn flowers and foliage. The bride was given away by her father and she was radiant in a gown of duchess satin trimmed with lace and wore a lulle veil with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth, and the bride's maids were Miss Margaret Clark, of Burlington, Iowa, Miss Helen Campbell, Washington, Miss Constance Lincoln, Belmont, Mass., Miss Charlotte Treadwell of Flushing, N. Y. The best man was Henry Lincoln of Chicago.

The groom is the assistant engineer of the Fulton Water Co., and the bride is a charming young lady who has a host of friends at her home in Burlington, Iowa, and at Kittery Point, where she has made her summer home with her parents for many years.

THOUSANDS RESUME WORK IN MILLS

Nearly 25,000 persons engaged in the New England textile industry resumed work Monday after various periods of idleness due to a pronounced policy of curtailment. Within eight days 85,000 textile operatives in the New England states have been called to their duties. Although the mill situation in this district has improved, the outlook is not as bright as manufacturers expected early in the summer, and curtailment of the output will continue for a time at a number of mill centers.

Mills which resumed work Monday included the following: Laurel Lake, Ansonia and eight other cotton plants in Fall River, employing about 8,000 operatives; Pepperell and Laconia cotton mills of the Pepperell Mfg. Co., Biddeford, Me., 4,500 hands; the cotton mills of the York corporation of Saco, 2,000; Fisher Mfg. Co.'s cotton mills, Fisherville, 700; Dwight Mfg. Co.'s cotton mills, Chicopee, 2,000; Coventry company's cotton mills, Anthony, R. I., 800; Hamilton woolen company's print cloth mills, Amesbury, 900; Saco & Pettie cotton machine works, Saco, Me., 1,000; knitting mills of the William Carter company, Needham Heights, 400 (plant on short time since July 5).

The Volantown, Ashland, Greenville, Sheluckett Falls and Wauregan cotton mills in eastern Connecticut employing an aggregate of 3,000 operatives, and which have been running on a short-time schedule for weeks, went on a full time basis.

The Lonsdale and Ashton cotton mills of the Lonsdale company, controlled by the Goddard Bros. of Providence, resumed work last week. There are 2,800 persons in the two mills at Lonsdale and 500 at Ashton, R. I.

Several of the American woolen company's mills and independent woolen mills at Holyoke and Monson, Mass., have received orders aggregating 255,000 yards of cloth from the war department at Washington.

In St. John, N. B., the Cornwall and York cotton mills, which have been acquired by Montreal textile interests, will be operated to their full capacity.

Fall River reports continued curtailment. Last week 325,000 pieces of print cloth were kept out of the market. This amount is more than one-half of the normal cloth production.

The manufacturers continue to govern their operations by the amount of cotton that they have on hand, and it is expected that short-time schedules will be in evidence for some time. Three or four mills are shut down this week.

Idle looms still make up a large amount of the curtailment. When the new cotton crop comes in it is believed that all the looms will be started.

The seven print cloth mills of the Fall River iron works company, controlled by M. C. D. Borden of New York, entered on their sixth week of idleness Monday.

Members of the National association of hosiery and underwear manufacturers, which embraces a large proportion of the cotton textile industries of Philadelphia and the south, and also some of the New York and New England mills, report that in the latter part of August and thus far in September there has been some improvement, although business in general is still much depressed.

There is expectation of further betterment this month, although genuine activity is not anticipated. The favorable factors are that stocks everywhere are low and that the size of the cotton crop is now pretty definitely known. In the last month or two buyers of cotton goods have been inclined to hold off, in anticipation of a final crop of such size as would put cotton down several cents possibly to 9 or 10 cents per pound or even lower. Now that the prospects of this have vanished mill men believe that the chief cause for resumption has ceased to exist.

MELLEN'S REASONS WHY HE WILL NOT RESIGN

1. He has repeatedly expressed the hope that he would see all the railroad properties in New England acquired under his presidency merged into a homogeneous system.
2. Absolute harmony between himself and every member of the New Haven's board of directors, which has approved his important moves, is believed to prevail.
3. Although more than 60 years old, he is in excellent health and vigor to cope with the multifarious details of his office.

"I have always considered the subject of my retirement as inevitable, but have never yet been able to fix a date satisfactory. Advancing years, physical incapability or dissatisfactions governing such a question. The first two have not occurred to me, and the board so far as my knowledge goes, seems very well pleased at the idea of my remaining in office indefinitely; therefore, the date is somewhat remote."

This statement was issued by President Mellen at Portland, Me., in denial of an announcement from the office of the New Haven system's press representative, Major Isaac Bromley, which bore the stamp of the department and was couched in the following language:

"The newspapers ask if it is true or if there is any foundation for the story, that President Mellen is to retire from the presidency. Mr. Mellen is to retire from the presidency, but the date has not yet been fixed."

The announcement, authorized, it is said, by a statement in President Mellen's own handwriting, caused rumor after rumor until he made a statement at Portland, where he was on a tour of inspection, accompanied by Vice-President and General Manager T. E. Byrnes and Morris McDonald, of the Maine Central railroad, a subsidiary line to the New Haven system.

The party left Portland for Fabyan, N. H., over the White Mountain division, and from Bretton Woods, N. H., Mr. Mellen sent out this statement:

"I do not contemplate retiring from the New Haven road as long as my health and strength and my associates in the board of directors permit me to remain."

Financiers Mystified
Railroad and financial circles were mystified. Director after director affirmed that he knew nothing of the announced retirement, while many said they believed it to be a misinterpretation of some jovial statements of the New England railroad king which questioned as to a possible retirement.

Prominent railroad officials and financiers were interviewed and expressed as much mystification as did the average man.

Considerable weight was thrown on the side of those who argued that he had not resigned, when it was learned from a director of the New Haven road, Alexander Cochran of Boston, that at a directors' meeting last week President Mellen was present, but nothing was said of his resignation. It was also sug-

Bitter Fight Is on For the Mexican Presidency.

RULES FOR POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS

Inquiries are numerous regarding the postal savings bank which is soon to open at the local postoffice. The object of this great enterprise is to provide facilities for depositing savings at interest with the security of the United States. The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of deposits made in savings depository offices with accrued interest as provided by the postal savings act. The service of the postal savings system is free to all persons entitled to make deposits and no charge or fee is charged or required in connection with the opening of an account or the withdrawal of money deposited.

No person connected with the post office department or the postal service is permitted to disclose the name of any depositor or give any information to any person other than the depositor himself unless directed by the postmaster-general. Deposits are evidenced by postal savings certificates issued in fixed denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $25 and $100 each bearing the name of the depositor and being non-transferable and non-negotiable. No account will be opened for less than $1 nor will fractions of a dollar be accepted for deposit at any time. No person is permitted to deposit more than $100 in any calendar month nor to have a total balance to his credit of more than $500 at any time exclusive of accumulated interest.

Amounts less than $1 may be saved for deposit by the purchase of postal savings cards at 10 cents each and of specially prepared adhesive 10 cent postal savings stamps. Each postal savings card contains blank spaces, to which 10 cent saving stamps may be affixed from time to time as purchased and a postal savings card with nine 10 cent savings stamps thus affixed will be accepted as a deposit of $1 either in opening a savings account or in adding to an account already existing. Interest will be allowed on all deposits at the rate of 2 per cent per annum computed on each savings certificate separately and payable annually, no interest being paid on money which remains on deposit for a fraction of a year. Deposits will bear interest from the first day of the month next succeeding that in which it is deposited. Interest will continue to accrue on a savings certificate as long as it remains outstanding, certificates being valid until paid without limitation as to time. Compound interest is not allowed on an outstanding certificate but a depositor may withdraw interest payable and make a new deposit which will bear interest at the regular rate. A depositor may at any time withdraw the whole or any part of the funds deposited to his credit with any interest payable by surrendering a savings certificate properly endorsed covering the amount of the desired withdrawal. The accrued interest alone may be withdrawn when payable upon application to the postmaster. The depositor will be permitted to exchange the whole or any part of his deposit in sums of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100, or multiples of $100 up to an including $500 into the United States registered or coupon bonds bearing interest at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent per annum payable semi-annually and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from the date of issue, both payable 20 years from such date in United States gold coin. Such exchange may be made under the date of January 1 and July 1 of each year, provided such bonds are then available. Savings deposits thus converted into bonds are not counted as a part of the maximum of $500 allowed one depositor and there is no limitation upon the amount available postal savings bonds which may be ultimately acquired by a depositor. Information regarding this matter may be obtained by applying at the deposit window of the post office.

Former President Lucius Tattle of the Boston & Maine, whom President Mellen succeeded in November, 1909, also scouted the report, even when informed it came from official sources. "I don't believe it," said he. "It may be that some one in the New Haven office has given out that information, but that does not necessarily establish it as official."

"I attended a Boston & Maine meeting with Mr. Mellen last Tuesday. He was about to start on an inspection tour of the eastern lines and attend a meeting of the Maine Central directors. He told me that he would not return to Boston until Wednesday of this week, and I don't believe he has resigned as president in the meantime. Certainly I know of no reason which would lead him to do anything of the sort."

The Modern Way.

FORMER SECRETARY OF NAVY RELEASED

Wakefield, R. I., Sept. 12.—The charge of manslaughter on which former Secretary of the Navy Truman H. Newberry of Detroit was arrested last Tuesday when his automobile ran down and killed a child was withdrawn when the case came up in the district court before Nathan B. Lewis today.

The proceedings were very brief. Fred C. Olney, the prosecuting attorney, told the court that George W. Ellis of Milford, Mass., whose 7-year-old daughter Helen was killed by Mr. Newberry's automobile at Narragansett Pier did not hold Mr. Newberry criminally liable for the little girl's death and would not prosecute William T. Thornley, counsel for Mr. Newberry, said that an attorney for Mr. Ellis had notified him over the telephone that Mr. Ellis did not attach any blame to Mr. Newberry.

The Food Behind the Men Behind the Gun

When the American Battleship Fleet visited the Thames last November, the London Daily Mirror sent a representative aboard the flagship with instructions to find out the cause of the superior physical condition of the American Jack-tar over the average British Blue-jacket.

An officer of the American flagship, upon being questioned regarding the food of the American Navy, said: "They have the best food of any navy on earth, and when they ask for more—like Oliver Twist—they have it without question."

Then the chief commissariat steward handed the newspaper man a sample breakfast bill of fare. It read:

Soft boiled eggs (two)
Post Toasties with milk
Bread, butter and coffee.

Post Toasties

NEED OF AUDACITY.
Nothing is so much needed in the political life in this country today as frontiersmen such as Kentucky produced. What we need is audacity—courageous, painstaking audacity. Mere audacity would not keep you alive on a frontier. It is necessary that you have a constructive gift. We don't want destructive audacity, but we do need constructive audacity. The forces of feudalism, of paternalism and of arbitrary power are infinitely varied. Thank God they are, as they give you something to live for. You want something to hit that you will know you have touched when you hit it. You don't want simply straw men to knock down.—Woodrow Wilson.

THE LATEST RAILROAD SENSATION

"I will continue as president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad as long as my health will permit, and as long as directors elect me," was the prompt denial from President Mellen to the sensational story from New Haven that set all New England agog yesterday and in the above few lines there is much meaning for New England's growth and future. It is known by President Mellen's intimates that he was pained when certain politicians and newspapers in New England scouted and doubted his sincerity when he announced his plans for the rebuilding of the New England railways and how every possible obstacle has been placed in his path to block his plans. Coming before his own neighbors and his friends at Concord he laid before them the dreams of his boyhood days in his plan to build up New Hampshire, only to be "knocked" and abused by a band of time-serving politicians, office seekers and grafters. The same treatment was given him in Massachusetts—there some of the blackmailers went even further and charged that he was only a Morgan representative, etc., and he did not intend to do this, or that.

In spite of all the abuse and "knocking" Mr. Mellen has continued his work of building up the New England railways and without answering the political charlats and without encouragement from but few sources. The strange part of all the general abuse is that in many cases the people were lead to subscribe to it, but today they are waking up and have taken a look upon the inside and to discover that it was the work of a paid gang of politicians as was the case here in New Hampshire. Having reached the age of sixty years President Mellen has said time and time again that he simply had the plan of building up New England as the remainder of his life's work and having the money and energy to do it he asked for the cooperation of the people.

The Herald hopes he will continue as president and that there will be no interruption in his work as started and that the people will give the politicians their just deserts. Boston and the whole New England will some day record that President Mellen has been their greatest benefactor.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Directed from New York.

When the people of New Hampshire fully realize that Gov. Bass has been and is being directed in his official acts by a set of active young fellows in New York, headed by Attorney Cotton, many of the strange things he has done since his election will be more clearly understood. It was only recently that Cotton made the remark that he had been unusually busy this year because of having to direct the state administration in New Hampshire.

Among Cotton's active assistants are Rublee, who created a stir by keeping from the public for a week an important letter; Beatty, a newspaper youth, trained in the muckraking field, who announced upon his arrival that he had been hired as the personal publicity agent of the governor; and Hapgood, master muckraker, whose national weekly, it is now made clear, has become the governor's personal organ as to New Hampshire matters.

To Cotton college friend and assistant of the governor's, and family attorney since, or his partner Rublee, was due the remarkable special messages to the legislature whose only justification was to bring the governor more prominently into the limelight and the proposition advanced through Mr. Beatty that if he senate did not act a certain way before a date named, the governor would adjourn the legislature and stump the state from end to end for the election of a new senate. Such a blunder was a grievous humiliation to all of the governor's New Hampshire supporters. And similarly explained was his rebuke to Councilor Lord, who offered a suggestion as to the make up of the public service commission when the governor announced that he would never yield his "legal right" to initiate nominations, which deftly was rushed into the newspapers, although the state constitution gives the council equal right with the governor to nominate.

A position on the license commission has given the governor and these New York directors more than ordinary concern. The second term of John Kivel, Democrat, expired June 5. The law directed his successor be appointed in May. An investigation of charges against the board had been conducted in May, but the governor and council did not find enough in them to warrant the removal of the board. The public generally expected Kivel, who has held and still holds a Boston and Maine retainer, and has never had any sympathy with the progressive cause, would not be reappointed. The names of several Democrats were urged upon the appointing power, some of them backed by petitions. Among them, but without petition, Mr. Fowler, who has been in the employ of The Union for the past sixteen years. The Union made no mention of the matter other than to announce Kivel's reappointment, a month or so after the time named in the law for the appointment to be made.

Hapgood has made several references to the matter since Governor Bass determined it or had it determined for him, including the last two

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked. Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this. It's the best proof, for it comes from Portsmouth.

Joseph Libby, 31 High St. Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I was bothered by sharp pain across the small of my back, directly over my kidneys and was also subject to headaches and dizzy spells. Whenever I caught cold my trouble was aggravated. I finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Philbrick's Pharmacy and they disposed of my trouble. I have kept this remedy in the house ever since."

The above statement was given July 31, 1905, and when Mr. Libby was interviewed on June 29, 1911, he said "I willingly reiterate all I have said in my former public statements in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. My opinion of this remedy remains unchanged."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

The steamer Kearsarge was reviewed on Wednesday morning from the railway at the navy yard, and placed in the dry dock where she will be coppered before being put afloat.

Lieut Joseph M. Bradford has been ordered to report and has arrived at this navy yard. Lieut Bradford, is a son-in-law to Ex-Gov. Goodwin, and has seen pretty constant sea service for several years past. He is a native of Tennessee and entered the service in 1840.

It is stated that persons living in New York, who own property in Virginia have received official notice from the various county clerks of issues of his paper. A reference to the latter indicates that the governor desired to have the fact brought out that the suggestion had been made to him that he and The Union should co-operate. As Hapgood has said, Mr. Pillsbury did ask the governor to appoint Fowler to succeed Kivel. He has not, however said that a similar request was made by Chairman Cook and Secretary Musgrove of the Republican state committee, by the since-elected Chairman Clough, Sherman E. Burroughs, Dr. Thomas Chalmers, and several others, meet prominent in the campaign which resulted in his nomination, nor that Councilor Gile as friend since early boyhood, urged it as a personal request. It is well known that the May that they would assent to Fowler's nomination, if he would make councillors assured the governor in it. Fowler never mentioned the matter with councillors, stated that if Kivel was not to be reappointed, he would like it, as the way the work was done he could attend the meetings and also carry along his other work.

Mr. Pillsbury was one of the few of the many hundred specially invited to attend governor's day at Peterborough in June. The scarcity of guests gave a good opportunity for a general talk, such as the two had frequently enough when the campaign for election was on, but had not been continued after the election. After what was desired had been said as to the vacancy, the desirability of co-operation between the chief executive and the paper, was suggested, because the latter was as desirous of being helpful to the success of the administration as it had endeavored to be for the success of the election, and as it had not had the opportunity of being by reason of not being informed as the plans of the administration relative to legislation, irrespective of persons, as it had the New York mentors learned of it, it now appears, they directed the nomination be refused that it might be made certain no co-operation be between the paper and the administration be permitted by the latter. As to as article in Hapgood's paper that had appeared, the governor stated he had at the last moment sent a message to have omitted, but without effect.

As to official matters, The Union has had more difficulty of getting it from Governor Bass from the day of his election to the present than from Governor Quincy, Governor Floyd, or their predecessors. It has more than once experienced the deliberate attempt of the governor himself to mislead and misrepresent as subsequent events proved. It has made no attack upon him. It has maintained the same position as to highways that it took during the administration of Governors Floyd and Quincy, and that has been mainly that a section of road, once improved, should be constantly kept up as a matter of law and a matter of economy, and that it was the duty of the governor and council to see that it was done, if the towns failed to do it, as they have notoriously failed and as the governor and council have neglected. It has been humiliated as every other citizen of the state should be humiliated that the governor should take the position that he was absolutely helpless to prevent the property of the state from going to waste purely because of neglect. No other governor has taken such position, whatever the emergency, but they have always found a way. Was it because in their cases there was a will behind it? In his latest work, the governor's personal New York organ indicates what he and his directors can do

Joy in Knocking Himself.
Dr. O. M. Leiser yesterday told this story of an experience in an English asylum for the insane: "I saw one of the inmates sitting on a stool with a hammer in his hand. Every minute or so he would pound his head viciously with it. I finally said to him: 'Will you tell me why you are doing that?' 'Why, of course,' he replied, 'seeming surprised that I did not know without asking. 'It feels so good when I stop.'—New York World.

WEDDING FEE NO ONE'S AFFAIR

Says Rev. Joseph Lambert, Former Rye Pastor

The people in the town of Rye are busy discussing the act of a former pastor of the Christian church, Rev. Joseph Lambert, who performed the wedding ceremony that united John Jacob Astor and Madeline Talmage Force at Newport last week.

On Sunday last the people of both churches lingered long after the morning and evening services and entered into a discussion of the affair. The men of the town are said to have taken a decided stand against the former pastor, while a few women thought Rev. Mr. Lambert did nothing out of the way in marrying the couple. Many of the flock of the former pastor are said to have approached their present pastor Rev. J. H. Fenwick, on the matter and that he expressed himself as not fully in favor of the work of his predecessor Rev. Mr. Fenwick, who relieved Rev. Mr. Lambert, was his classmate and close friend.

In a recent interview, Mr. Lambert declared it was no one's business but his own as to how much he received as a fee for marrying these people. He understood his parishioners at Providence were grumbling over the matter and he stated that he did not know whether he would try to explain his work or not.

Apparently Rev. Mr. Lambert is not worrying about his parish. He says he had not consulted or talked with his flock about his intention to officiate at the marriage.

"Do you think it right to marry persons who have been divorced?" he was asked.

"Other prominent clergymen in this city have married persons who have been divorced. I have done so before," was his answer.

"When did you make arrangements to perform the ceremony?"

"That is something I will not say," responded Mr. Lambert.

"About that $1000 fee that so much has been said about. Did you receive it?"

"That's nobody's business except mine and Col. Astor's," replied Rev. Mr. Lambert. "But I will say that there was no agreement over a fee whatsoever."

"Then it must be inferred," remarked the reporter, "that you did get the $1000."

"That is none of your business," replied the clergyman.

"There was some agreement about the fee that would be charged?"

"No," replied Rev. Mr. Lambert.

"When I agreed to perform the marriage I said I would accept any fee that Col. Astor might give me, from $1 to any amount."

"You are satisfied with the fee you got?"

Rev. Mr. Lambert laughed. "I am always satisfied," said he, "unless someone steps on my toes." After performing the ceremony he came up from Newport in an automobile. It was not a machine owned by Col. Astor, however.

The clergyman stated that the ceremony was performed very quietly. He used the Episcopal double service. After being asked one or two more questions, Rev. Mr. Lambert said: "I've talked about this matter so much I am sick of it. I have nothing further to say. Good night."

To another newspaper man he said: "I knew I would be criticised if I performed the ceremony. But I knew a great deal of the criticism would come from the unthinking and not from the intelligent thinkers. 'Personally, I think remarriage is much to be preferred to relations that might arise under prohibition of marriage. Then, too, I considered that other Congregational ministers in this city, leading ones, too, had remarried men whose past was worse than that of Mr. Astor. In condemning Mr. Astor, the unthinking failed to consider the possibility that he had a side they did not know."

"I took the counsel of several ministers in the city and I found they thought generally as I did. Only a few days ago at the ball game, a Congregational minister asked me what I thought of the Astor-Force marriage, and I said I believed I should officiate were I asked, and he said that he should also. The newspaper stir, of course, made it hard to decide to officiate."

Providence, Sept. 12.—Rev. Joseph Lambert preached at the regular Sunday morning service in the Elmwood Congregational temple Sunday morning to a congregation of about 60 men and women. He made no allusion to the Astor marriage ceremony which he had performed on Saturday at Newport and declared after the service that he would probably not allude to it in his future discourses.

CELEBRATED THEIR TWENTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

One more year has rolled around on the calendar of the Portsmouth Athletic Club and the twenty-sixth anniversary is a thing of the past. It was marked down on the records with red ink, as one of the most successful of the outings, and that is going some, when it is considered that in the twenty-six years of the existence of this very active organization there has been "some outings."

The club was favored with excellent weather although a few showers did show up during the afternoon but they were so slight they did not interfere with the celebration. At twelve o'clock the members gathered at the club house on Court street and here were a string of automobiles, the greater number owned by club members all gathered for the parade.

The parade was to be held at the Brackett Pickering farm on the shore of Great Bay in Newington. This was the only method of getting here. The Portsmouth City band were seated on a big truck and followed the president's car and after a short parade about the city they started out over the road for the grounds where they arrived at one o'clock.

Shortly after the arrival Simpson, the caterer, opened a rattling good clam bake and for some time everybody was real busy, the baseball players being the first to break away and steal away for a little practice. Finally everybody was satisfied and the bake looked as though the seven year locust had struck it.

The Baseball Game.
The real serious business of the outing was taken up after the dinner had been disposed of, this being the annual baseball game between the married and single men, and it was a corking good game. In fact it was the best game played at an outing and at all time real baseball. The teams lined up as follows for the fray: Married, men: Jewell, catcher; Able, pitcher; Newick, first base; George Woods, second; Bill Woods, captain and third base; Orin Shaw, short; Seavey, right field; Philbrick, left field, and Thurston Smart, center. The single men with Bill Newell as "bench" captain were made up with Carleton, catcher; Morange, pitcher; McCloskey, first; Clarke, second; Phillips, third; Mitchell, short; Moulton, right; Blaisdell, left, and Sperry Locke, center.

The only run was scored in the first inning when George Woods got a base on balls and stole second and scored on Jimmy Able's single. The single men never had a chance to score only making one hit on Able's delivery and the married men had but two off Morange, and both of these were made by Able.

It was a rattling good game at all times with both teams playing real championship ball and they got all kinds of encouragement from the rosters, for the line was sharply drawn and every married man was there with a boost for their team.

The score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Married Men, 1 0 0 0 0 1 2 1

KITTERY LETTER

Kittery, Sept. 12.
All was quietness at the polls on Monday. Kittery made a big fight, coming out with a small majority against license.

Traip Academy opened Monday for the fall term with the largest enrollment of pupils in its history. Seventy-eight scholars were registered, the freshman class numbering 29. Everything points to a most successful year.

The Field Sports.
The field sports were run off after the ball game and they were closely contested and won as follows:
100 yard dash—won by James Able.
Fungo hitting—won by Ira A. Newick.
Putting the shot—won by Ira A. Newick distance 35 ft. 6 in.
Running broad jump—won by Orin Shaw, distance 16 ft. 5 in.
Homeward Bound.
At six o'clock the machines began to leave for the club house and they came in rapidly until they were all gathered at a little before seven o'clock. Shortly after headed by President Lawrence and the Portsmouth band, with the baseball team with brooms in the van, a short march was made about the streets back to the club house. There was plenty of red fire and the members made a great showing, there being nearly two hundred in line.

Social in the Evening.
In the evening the club house was gay with the members and there was another good time until nearly midnight. The band stationed on the veranda gave a concert and lunch was served by George Downing. There was the usual close harmony work on the part of the various quartets and it was a real social hour.

The officers of the club who acted as committee of arrangements, and so successfully carried out the plans for the day are: President E. P. Lawrence, Vice-president George W. Macauley, Secretary and Treasurer Walter H. Page, Directors William P. Robinson, Arthur H. Clarke, Fred H. Marden, Forrest Knowles and Frank Newick.

NOW, WHO DID THIS?
Resident of Bartlett Street Has Music All Night

All night on Monday the slummers of a resident on Bartlett street were disturbed by the noise of a "crying cow" and his sleep came in bunches until daylight.

Arising from his couch he was ready to make a complaint to the owners of animals for allowing them to run loose and keep people of the neighborhood from quiet, peaceful dreams. To his surprise he found a big bovine tied up in his back yard and that all the noise had been confined to his back door. Now Jack sees the joke and is certainly sure that there is one coming to the gang that hitched up the beef in his yard.

PRICE OF FOOD STUFFS GOING UP

New York, Sept. 11.—While thousands are starving in China, and France is being torn with riots in protest against the high cost of food, there is renewed attention in this country to the fact sugar has reached its highest point in twelve years, that coffee is soaring and potatoes are selling as high as $1.10 a bushel in the field. Sugar took another jump today when all grades of refined were advanced five cents a hundred pounds. In view of this, householders are asking themselves: Will this winter see a recurrence of the conditions of 1909-10, when the cost of living reached its apex and declined slowly only after many so-called "bonanzas" against meat and other high-priced commodities were declared throughout the land? To this question economic experts see here, today answer no. Prices will be higher, they say, in some instances, above those of last winter, but they add that the man who sets his table with plain every-day fare, avoiding fancy brands and luxuries may await the approach of cold weather without undue anxiety. It is pointed out that, generally speaking, with the exception of coffee, sugar, potatoes and a few canned vegetables, the present month of September was ushered in with conditions more favorable to the consumer than was the case of year ago. On Sept. 1 mess pork was quoted at $19 a barrel, wholesale, as against $24 on the same date in 1910; the wholesale price of ham is a little more than fifteen cents a pound, as compared with eighteen cents in the early fall of last year; Western lard is selling at a fraction more than nine cents, as against more than twelve cents in September, 1910, and butter and eggs are both comparatively reasonable and a few cents cheaper retail than in last September.

Flour of good quality is selling at lowest retail price at $5.95 a barrel the same price that prevailed at this time last year, and bacon may be had at some stores for 20 cents a pound, as against 23 and 25 cents a year ago. The "average family" steak costs about 28 cents a pound as it did last year, though experts say that, with all feeding crops short, it is not unlikely that it will go higher as the winter progresses. The cost of poultry will be largely determined by cold storage holdings, the mysteries of which the layman has not yet solved. Potatoes, it is held, are almost certain to remain a luxury, for although the main crop will not be dug until the last of this month, indications are that the shortage is serious, not only in this country but in England and in Germany. In the fall of last year one could buy good potatoes in the field at 55 cents a bushel; today the prices range from 85 cents to more than a dollar. Canned peas, beans and tomatoes also will be higher, but rice remains cheap and unless there is a marked advance in pork it is argued that the man of slender means can provide for his family without serious strain.

Sugar and coffee are both preliminary high, but those who are studying the market predict that decreased consumption which invariably follows a prohibitive advance will soon restore these to their normal necessities to a more normal level.

No. 7 standard Rio spot coffee brought 13-5-8 cents a pound wholesale in New York Saturday, as against 10-1-2 cents a year ago, and the standard grade of granulated sugar was quoted wholesale at 6-7-0 cents per pound, the highest level since July, 1899. Failure of the European sugar beet crop and poor prospects in Cuba are given as the cause of the abrupt jump in the sugar market.

The price the consumer must pay is such a variable quantity throughout the United States that it is almost impossible to strike an intelligent average. Much depends upon the location of the retail dealer.

MILLIONS OF FOLKS USE ONLY CASCARETS

They Never Have Headache, Biliousness, Sluggish Liver or Bowels or a Sick, Sour Stomach.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish intestines—you always get the desired results with Cascarets and quickly too.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable another moment; put an end to the head ache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other distress; cleanse your inside organs of all the poison and effete matter which is producing the misery.

Take a Cascaret now; don't wait until bedtime. In all the world there is no remedy like this. A 10-cent box means health, happiness and a clear head for months. No more days of gloom and distress if you will take a Cascaret now and then. All druggists sell Cascarets. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

FACTS DIVULGED ABOUT THE NEXT FRIEND SUIT

Gen. Frank S. Streeter Cross-Examines Former Senator William E. Chandler

Concord, Sept. 12.—Former Senator William E. Chandler was subjected to over five hours of grueling cross-examination in the taking of his deposition as senior counsel for the plaintiff in the action of Glover vs. Baker, executor, and others. Under the interrogation of Col. Frank S. Streeter the whole history of the development of the "next friend" suit, the extremely important part the New York World played in the same and the particular part of the legal advice puzzle in which John W. Slaght, a member of the reportorial staff of the World, fits were cleverly brought out under the skillful cross-examination.

Hardly once in the great battle of wits master legal minds did either participant lose his temper, and sharp wordy fights which usually mark conflict between Chandler and Streeter were conspicuous by their absence. However, there was not a dull moment in the whole day's proceedings. In rapid order came disclosure, and tonight, for the first time in the history of the Eddy proceedings, some definite knowledge is available concerning the events which led up to the institution of the great legal suit of 1907 and counsel for the plaintiff has shown, in his disposition just what part of the present action "Eddyism" and the "Eddy litigation" is to play.

The great fight of today was concerning the property of the deposit's answering of many questions which, according to Mr. Chandler, could be in violation of the delicate relations between client and counsel. Mr. Chandler flatly refused to divulge the least degree any small part of his professional relations with either the New York World or George W. Eddy, later, in spite of every known effort which Mr. Streeter took to dislodge him from his position in the latter. The former senator several times answered questions of the defendant's attorney with the unimpeachable words, "it is none of your business."

On Friday the direct deposition was taken, the questioning being by Mr. W. C. Howe, one of the associate counsel, for the plaintiffs. Then Mr. Chandler told the story of the events which led up to the settlement of 1907, stating during the course of his deposition that, although he thought at the time Mrs. Eddy was a party to the settlement, he was of the opinion now that she had not been. Mr. Chandler also stated at that time that he had no knowledge of the manner in which the property was to be disposed of by the will, with the exception of legacies to the boys, which he understood amounted to less than $20,000. On these two points the deposition was not examined today, the questioning having to do with the part the New York World played in the matter up to the time of the institution of the suit, and as to the parties directly concerned in instigating and financing the litigation.

There were present at the hearing annex Elder, William A. Morse, Frank Streeter, counsel for the defense; Henry M. Baker, executor of the will of John W. Kelley, DeWitt C. Howe, and Annis Taylor, counsel for the plaintiff; William E. Chandler, the defendant; Thomas Clifford, magistrate, and John W. Slaght, assistant to Mr. Chandler, now on leave of absence from the New York World. There also appeared at the caption Judge James W. Remick, who represented the interests of George W. Glover, Jr., a son of George W. Glover and a grandson of Mrs. Eddy, who has intervened in the will contest by leave of the court.

CAPE ANN LIGHTS

Many a landsman will be surprised at the recent decision by the bureau of lighthouse of the department of commerce and labor to do away with one of the twin lights on Thatcher's island which for more than a century have warned shipping away from the Cape Ann rocks and have stood as one of the best known landmarks of the New England coast, pointing the way from the east to Massachusetts bay. There is likely to be a serious protest from mariners and the shipping interests against the carrying out of the following "Notice to Mariners" in a recent issue of the weekly publication of the bureau: "Cape Ann light, station, light, in north tower to be permanently discontinued about September 30, 1911, without notice, change." The Providence Journal is aroused already and has this to say of the order to discontinue one of the pair of fixed white lights which have so long been known as "the Cape Ann candles." "The 'about' is good; the 'without notice' change even better. Imagine shipping being in doubt of the exact date of the putting out of a light which has been burning at a point of peculiar peril, at the gateway of one of the great world harbors, for more than a century and is known to the Seven Seas! Without other change, indeed! As if the snuffing of one of these candles were not revolutionary! What landlubber is responsible for this astonishing notice to mariners, some of whom surely will not receive the notice until, arriving from distant seas, they look in vain for the light in Thatcher's north tower? That the seafaring population will renege against the order may be believed. The bureau of lighthouses is likely to be instructed, in vigorous language, in the necessity of maintaining that station intact."—Manchester Union.

GOVERNOR BASS' RECEPTION

AT THE WENTWORTH A Brilliant Affair

The famous Hotel Wentworth at New Castle has been the scene of many brilliant social affairs during the season but the closing affair of the season, the reception tendered by His Excellency Governor Robert P. Bass, to the officers of the navy yard, at Fort Constitution and to the invited guests of Portsmouth, New Castle and the guests at the hotel, was the fitting climax to a season of success.

Manager Priest never does anything by halves and when Governor Bass' guests sat down to a lunch in the magnificent dining hall it was one fit for anyone and it did credit to the hotel. The scene about the hotel corridors was one of rich splendor as the guests, clad in the season's finest promenade about to the artistic music of Carl Behr's famous orchestra. Prof. Behr has a New England reputation as a producer of music and last evening his efforts were encored time and time again. His concert program contained all the most difficult selections from the world's greatest composers and they were handled with rare skill.

The costumes of the ladies, with the coloring given by the uniforms of the army and navy, made a pretty scene for the eye. The ballroom was most beautifully decorated under the direction of Carl Behr, assisted by Sam Lacks.

As fast as the guests arrived they were presented to the Governor by a detail of aids from his personal staff and those from the artillery and from the navy yard. The Governor was assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. John Bass.

Shortly after ten o'clock the guests sat down to one of the daintiest lunches of salads and ices that Manager Priest could provide. It was a success in every particular.

Among the prominent guests noted were: Capt. C. C. Rogers, commander Portsmouth navy yard, and Mrs. Rogers.

Capt. J. S. Tirrell, commanding Naval Prison. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thurgood, U. S. Marine Corps.

Major Earl D. A. Pearce, U. S. Army. Major F. C. Chauncey, U. S. Army. Lieut. Washburn, Artillery Corps, Portsmouth.

WOMAN MAKES CLAIM TO $400 FOUND ON PERSON OF GEORGE H. RUSSEL

Coroner Found that Amount on His Person When He Was Killed at Newbury

A woman from this city, giving her name as Mrs. Babson, has been in Amesbury in consultation with Medical Examiner Hurd of Newburyport and Dr. Murphy where she made a claim on $400 found in the pockets of George H. Russell, killed in the automobile accident at Newbury a few days ago.

At first the authorities declined to give up the money as her claim was not satisfactory. She then went to Boston where she obtained the services of an attorney who returned to Amesbury with the woman. They appeared before Judge Reddy and Medical Examiner Murphy and furnished proof sufficient to warrant the officials turning over the money.

It appears that Russell went to Boston to buy an automobile and while there purchased something more expensive than contemplated. There was $400 due on it and the following day he was returning to the Hub with $400, as the agent of Mrs. Babson, to pay the balance. When Russell was killed Dr. Murphy was called as the assisting examiner and as the law requires, took possession of the roll and held it till he was satisfied that it was the property of Mrs. Babson.

MENDUM PRIZES FOR BEST PENMANSHIP-- AT FARRAGUT SCHOOL

Awards Made Today By Committee

Winners Will Receive Awards at Herald Office

The annual award of prizes for Mendum is a son of Portsmouth and penmanship in the Farragut school, made through The Herald by J. A. Mendum of Roxbury, Mass., was announced today by the committee consisting of: Rev. Alfred Gooding, Chairman First District, Mr. F. W. Hartford, Supt. MacDougall.

The award by grades was as follows: Grade VII, Marie Aikon, Mary Coughlin; Grade VI, Una Badger, Thomas Wilson; Grade V, Rose Merrifield, Dorothy Twombly. Mr. Mendum this year directs The Herald to pay to the winners, $200 each and that amount will be handed to each upon their appearance at the Herald office. The donor, Mr.

although over eighty years of age is a fine penman as his writing now indicates.

His cash gift has greatly stimulated interest in penmanship and the Mendum prizes for penmanship are much appreciated. Miss Aikon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Aikon, and Miss Coughlin the daughter of Patrick Coughlin of Bow street.

Miss Badger is the daughter of William Badger of Raynes avenue. Thomas Wilson is the son of Ada J. Wilson. Miss Merrifield is the daughter of Alderman Merrifield of Ladd street. Miss Twombly is the daughter of William Twombly of Sparhawk street.

there he will walk to Los Angeles, Cal., and then to Seattle, completing his trip in June, 1912.

The young man averages 30 miles per day, and hikes mostly by night. The Doctors, previous to his taking up walking, informed him that he could not live three months but it proves their mistake when he has gained in weight from 98 to 143 pounds. He is now the picture of health and does everything he started out to do on this trip around the country.

WALKING FROM COAST TO COAST FOR HIS HEALTH

Fred Ruchon, who is walking around the country for the benefit of his health, arrived in this city at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon from Vancouver Jan. 1, 1911, and has covered 3000 miles. He is now on his way to Jacksonville, Fla., and from

FEAR ENTERTAINED FOR SAFETY OF ALBERT McNABB

Some fear is entertained as to the safety of Albert McNabb, a river boatman, supposed to be along the coast on his way to Boston. McNabb left here Sunday night in a 35-foot naphtha boat and towing a 28-foot steam cutter which had been sold by Charles H. Stewart to Boston parties.

Up to this morning he had not arrived at Boston and should have been in there Monday morning. Stewart, alarmed at the situation, went to Boston early this morning to learn what he could about the matter. McNabb is an excellent seaman and the delay is thought to be the result of a breakdown to the engine of his boat.

AUTOMOBILE STRIKES DOG

A valuable dog owned by an officer at Fort Constitution was struck by an automobile at the corner of Middle street and Miller avenue on Monday night. Agent Nelson of the S. P. C. A., was called to end his suffering with a bullet.

Piano Truth

In buying a piano it is better to be sure of quality rather than the price. Price is something that takes care of itself, naturally. If you get a Quality Piano, you cannot make a mistake at any rate.

Packard Pianos

are Quality Pianos every time. They are manufactured regardless of what the selling price will be. Therefore the intrinsic value of the Packard is superior to most pianos.

Special attention is directed to the new

in fancy figured mahogany, now on exhibition in our Piano Parlor

FACTS ABOUT RANGES.

There are cheap Ranges made to sell at a price and there are a lot of medium priced ones. There are only three good Ranges—and the names of those are at the tip of your tongue.

One of these is the "HOUSEHOLD." It is the only Range we sell. We know all about it. We guarantee it absolutely.

If you have this Range sent home and find you can get a better

Range anywhere for equal money we'll take it back and refund your money.

It doesn't pay to take chances on a Range. There are too many places for cost to pile up afterward. Make yourself safe. Buy your Range from us now—from a big stock.
